

ABSTRACT

A gateway unit for connecting subsystems, in vehicles in particular, in which at least one modular logical software gateway is used which routes messages between precisely two 5 subnets, thus providing only one individual connection pathway.